A Lost Canary Causes Lawsuit.

RIGHT TO STEREOTYPE PLATES.

A Loud Clamor for Water and a Louder Clamor for Pay.

wife Nellie S. Tuttle, in the Marine Court, to recover $2,000 damages for alleged false imprisonment. the 10th day of July, 1878, Mrs. Tuttle had two fancy canary birds stolen from the verands of her house in 13th street, and afterward discovered at house in 134th street, and afterward discovered at Cook's auction house, in 125th street, a cage containing, as she supposed, one of her pet canaries. She ascertained from Mr. Cook that Mrs. Noonan had let the bird for sale, and she told Mrs. Noonan that it had been stolen from her a few days before. Mrs. Noonan denied the charge and said she had owned the bird for two years. Mrs. Tuttle threatened to arrest her if the bird was not given up. Mrs. Noonan cautioned Mrs. Tuttle sysinst doing this. Mrs. Tuttle as once called Officer Adiaire and had Mrs. Noonan arrested, and the two ladies and the pet canary were all taken to the 129th street police station, where Mrs. Noonan was detained three and a half hours, when she was taken to the police court, and, after a further detention of one hour, was discharged and allowed to depart with the bird and cage. She brought this action for damages. The case excited no little interest and there was considerable evidence upon the part of Mrs. Tuttle, identifying the bird as hers, while the witnesses for Mrs. Noonan were equally emphate in identifying the animal as her bird. Judge McAdam submitted the tacts to the jury and charged that the defendants were liable, unless they found that a felony had been committed at the defendant's premises, and that the defendants had reasonable and probable cause to suspect and believe the plaintiff, hassessing the damages at six cents.

A STEREOTYPE STORY.

Judge Dillon, late of the United States District Court of Iowa, and author of a work on municipal Court of Iowa, and author of a work on municipal corporations, some time since contracted with James Cockcroft & Co., law publishers of this city, for the publication of a second edition of his book, expre-sly stipulating, however, that the edition was not to be atterectyped. In violation of their contract in this respect the publishers attrectyped the work, on discovering which the Judge demanded the delivery to him of the sterectype plates, and on being refused brought suit in replevin to recover them. The case came up for trial yesterday in the Supreme Court, before Judge Barrett and a jury, Messra. Armstrong & Briggs representing the Judge and E. Platt Johnson the defendants. The jury found in favor of plaintiff, awarding him the possession of the plates, with $140 damages for their detention.

WATER FOR A WESTERN CITY. The National Water Works of New York allege authorities of the city of Kansas to introduce its system of water works in that city and that $66,000 was to be paid above the expenses. On the completion of the work, two years later, the city refused to pay for the work, but afterward a compromise was made, the city agreeing to pay $92,500 in cash and $33,000 a year in semi-annual payments. A suit has been brought against the city of Kansas to recover $16,500 claimed to be due on the lat of July last, Judge Lawrence yeaserday granted an order to serve the summons by publication. authorities of the city of Kansas to introduce its

"A DAUGHTER'S SUIT."

NEW YORK, Nov. 19, 1879.

To the Editor of the Herald:

In your issue of to-day is an article headed "A Daughter's Suit." It is alleged in the papers in the case that a conspiracy has existed between Mr. W. C. Flanagan and myself for the purpose of defrauding Mrs. Ada Richardson. Now, I would simply state that Mr. Flanagan had no more to do with the matter than simply being requested to allow his name to be used for the purpose of the transfer, which request he granted, as a wife cannot deed property direct to her husband, and that Mr. Flanagan did not receive or has not one dollar at stake in the matter.
